

THE SEVEN SAINTS OF ST PAULS

Can you spot all seven wonderful murals?

They were created by artist Michele Curtis, who was born and raised in Easton after her parents came to Bristol from Jamaica. The murals celebrate the rich history of the St Pauls Carnival and the contributions the Windrush Generation made to the local community and beyond.

We encourage you to take a walk around the neighbourhood and tick off the murals as you find them. Take photos of yourselves there for us to display back here at ECCC. There is a lovely playground at St Agnes park too!

You could talk to your children about who these people are and ask what they think when they see the murals. We'd also love to see any photos you have of your family at St Pauls Carnival!

Roy Hackett moved to England from Jamaica. Roy knew it wasn't fair that people with brown skin weren't allowed to be bus drivers, so in 1963 he organised lots of people across Bristol to get together to boycott buses and make change happen.

TICK
WHEN SEEN

Barbara Dettering was a key member of Bristol West Indian Parents' & Friends' Association and a civil rights campaigner. Barbara was a trained social worker and was a teacher who helped children to overcome prejudice and believe in themselves.

TICK
WHEN SEEN

Clifford Drummond was secretary & treasurer of the Commonwealth Co-ordinated Committee (CCC). He owned the Speedy Bird Cafe, where the Carnival founders met. He was calm & clever and also helped people from the Asian community gain citizenship.

TICK
WHEN SEEN

Carmen Beckford MBE was a fully trained nurse who set up the first Carnival and was a Community Development Officer. She was the first black person to hold a high Council position, inspiring Mayor Marvin Rees and Lord Mayor Cleo Lake.

TICK
WHEN SEEN

The Honourable Owen Henry opened Bristol's first black-owned travel agency to help people visit family & friends in the Caribbean. He was a key supporter of the bus boycott and a founder of the CCC, which highlighted and fought discrimination.

TICK
WHEN SEEN

Audley Evans was also a founder of the CCC and participated in the Bristol Bus Boycott. He was a skilled engineer, moving from Jamaica to Bristol and then on to America. A quiet and generous man, Audley always helped people as much as he could.

TICK
WHEN SEEN

Delores Campbell helped children and young people to feel confident and powerful. She fostered over 30 children when their parents could not look after them. Delores helped establish the Carnival and loved to share music and food.

TICK
WHEN SEEN